The Ottawa Wind Ensemble

Directed by Mr. Mark Rocheleau

The Ottawa Wind Ensemble was formed in 2005, drawing together current and former Canadian Forces musicians, music teachers, and other professional musicians, in a professional caliber group.

Mark Rocheleau

Born and raised in Amherstburg, Ontario, began his formal studies in 1979 at the University of Windsor, majoring on clarinet, and graduating with a Bachelor of Music, and Bachelor of Education. After four seasons with the Windsor Symphony Orchestra, he acquired a direct entry into the Canadian Forces Vimy Band in Kingston in 1985, where he broadened his musical experience playing both clarinet and saxophone. In August of 1994, he was posted to the Central band of the Canadian Forces here in Ottawa and was eventually selected for a yearlong assistant conductor's course, which he completed in 1999. In October of 2005, Mark had completed 20 years of service with the Canadian Forces and elected to retire. His project since then has been to form The Ottawa Wind Ensemble.

Dan Pain

Born in Osoyoos, British Columbia, Dan first began to play the trumpet at the age of nine, moving his way down to the tuba by the age of 12. After High School Daniel pursued his musical studies at Kwantlen University College eventually transferring to the University of British Columbia in order to attain a Bachelors and Masters Degree in Music performance. Daniel has performed with the Vancouver and Victoria Symphony Orchestras, as well as with all other major Vancouver-area ensembles. He has been featured as a soloist with a number of different groups and orchestras on the West Coast. Here in Ottawa, Dan is a member of the Bank Street Brass and the Cascades Brass. He is currently playing for the Central Band of the Canadian Forces also based in Ottawa.
